

DONOR PRIVACY POLICY

Victories of the Heart deeply values the contributions of its donors without whom it could not fulfill its mission. Victories collects and uses the following information concerning its donors: name, address, telephone number, email address, and giving history. This information is kept on file for IRS purposes and is also used to analyze giving patterns in order to make accurate budget projections.

Victories maintains the following policies to protect the privacy of its donors:

- Victories does not sell, trade, or disclose donor information to other organizations
- Victories publishes the names of its donors, but offers the option of being recognized anonymously.
- Victories will honor donor requests not to be solicited or contacted in the future.
